My dear Sir:

Although my studies in symbolic logic have differed from yours in that my aim has not been to apply the system to the working out of problems, as yours has, but to aid in the study of logic itself, nevertheless I have always thought that you alone, so far as I know, except myself, have understood how the matter ought to be treated by making the elements propositions or predicates and not common nouns. I beg leave to send you herewith a paper setting forth in outline only, my system of existential graphs, which exhibits the logic of relations in the simplest possible manner,

I see by "Nature" of Nov 1 that you have a new book on the subject. My circumstances are so reduced that I can not longer purchase books. Notice them, however, for three or four important journals in this country, and should like very much to have a copy of the old one.
